Dear Sir:

Your inquiry of November 24th is at hand. The value to out of town residents of membership in our Society, is dependent on the field in which they are interested. If this field is American coins I must confess that we have great difficulty in obtaining for our publications material relating to the coins of our own country. These publications are the chief return received by out of town members. Annual dues are five dollars and I am enclosing a card of application in the event that you are interested in the support of such an organization as ours to make such an expenditure. The list of previous monographs published will give you an indication of their subjects.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.
